Army Intelligence.

Company H Second artillery, under command of Brevet Lieutenant Colonel Brooks, has received orders to be ready for leving Washington at a mement's warning. Their cessimition is not known.

The three halteries at present stationed in Washington are placed in the highest state of efficiency. Besides their customary drill, they assemble three tunes a week on the commons east of the Capitol, and perform the usual evolutions or a Light Artillery battalion. Their presence teems to excite a good deal of attention among the citizens, who always attend the drill in large numbers.
